Welcome to Morehouse College

Morehouse Men are Made

Welcome to the home of the Most. Where Renaissance Men are Made.

Morehouse College is a unique institution that prepares young men to lead and serve not only their communities but the world. The university has a commitment to excellence and a focus on preparing students to be leaders in their fields.

In 1831, Morehouse College was founded as the Bethany Institute in Columbus, Georgia. It was founded by the African Methodist Episcopal Church to educate African Americans in the Bible, theology, and vocational training. In 1835, it became the Georgia Institute of Religion, and in 1837, it became the Morehouse Institute for Instruction of Young Men.

Throughout its history, Morehouse College has had a significant impact on the African American community. It was the first college in the nation to grant a degree to an African American woman and is the alma mater of many notable individuals, including Martin Luther King Jr., who was a 1948 alumnus.

The university is located in the Atlanta metropolitan area and is part of the Atlanta University Center consortium, along with Spelman College, Clark Atlanta University, and Morehouse School of Medicine.

Morehouse College is committed to providing a quality education that prepares students to be leaders in their fields. The university offers a wide range of programs and majors, including business, engineering, education, and the arts.

The campus is located in the Atlanta metropolitan area and is easily accessible via public transportation. The university offers a variety of amenities, including a library, dining facilities, and recreational facilities.
