

UNAPOLOGETIC EXCELLENCE.

Morehouse College is America's only college designed to empower men of color. That's why it is annually one of the most highly-ranked HBCUs in the nation and why so many graduates earn titles that reflect society's most important leadership roles— U.S. senator, Nobel Peace Prize-winner, U.S. Secretary of Homeland Security, U.S. Surgeon General, Fortune 500 company president and CEO, global bank board chairman, technology company founder, Oscar winner, Grammy Award-winner, Olympic gold medalist, national engineer of the year, and many more. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Spike Lee, Raphael Warnock, John David Washington, and Samuel L. Jackson are now household names, but before they made history, they were known simply as Morehouse students.

On the historic Morehouse campus, future leaders are nurtured into adulthood at the same time they are challenged to be leaders. You'll learn from our world-renowned faculty, as well as the public officials, cultural icons, and experts in their fields who frequently come to share their experience, perspective, and ideas. Excellence is expected, even as your authentic journey as a man of color is appreciated and celebrated. We see your uniqueness and individuality among a brotherhood made up of other scholars from around the world.
